FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

From genealogy to digital photography to Pilates North East ISD Community Education offers diverse fall classes

August 13, 2010 -- Registration is underway for North East Community Education's (NECE) fall session. Hundreds of classes, ranging from acoustic guitar to first aid for pets to genealogy, will be offered starting in September.

New classes this session include: Put the YOU in YouTube; What Can Google Do For You?; Crafting Herbal Culinary Gifts; French Cooking - Quick and Gluten Free; Adult Ballet; Prenatal Yoga; The Nitty Gritty of Gardening; and Common Sense Parenting - The Teenage Drama Years.

Focus this session is on the theme CONNECT. Classes, such as Basic Welding, can help participants literally connect objects together. Participants can also connect with the online community with Blogging Your Business for FREE, and they can connect with people who share interests with classes like Recipe for a Cookbook.

NECE offers classes in areas of business, arts and crafts, dance, music and drama, exercise, sports and outdoor activities, financial, health, home and garden, languages, personal improvement, sewing and stitchery, technology and travel. Also offered are classes for youth, as well as online classes. Youth classes include zumba, art, yoga and more.

Classes will be offered at many convenient locations including several district schools and the North East Community Learning Center at 8750 Tesoro Drive. Registration can be completed online, as well as by phone, fax or mail. For more information, or to register, visit the Community Education Web site at www.communityed.neisd.net or call (210) 657-8866 to request a catalog.
