

EXTRA!
EXTRA!

North East ISD

MAY 2010

making the news

NEISD was recognized by the Commissioner of Education Robert Scott for its exceptional high school completion and college readiness programs implemented with 2008-2009 High School Allotment funds.

NEISD was named the winner of the H-E-B Excellence in Education Awards for the large-district category for its commitment to student achievement through innovative programs, parental and community involvement, as well as professional development opportunities for teachers and administrators.

NEISD hosted the annual Elementary School Track and Field Meet at Blossom, with events such as the frisbee throw, running long jump, and obstacle course.

Express-News

Redland Oaks student Natalie Pantuso, who is considered a solar system guru by her third-grade teacher, completed a solar system kit donated by the school's assistant principal to benefit the school's science lab.

Stone Oak teacher Cindy Glenn was chosen as one of 46 teachers to attend NASA's LiftOff Summer Institute held at NASA's Johnson Space Center.

Ridgeview celebrated Cinco de Mayo with a shoe box parade featuring hand-made floats.

Lee Student Water Action Team students showcased their community service learning projects completed throughout the year.

Michelle Howard, lead counselor at Churchill, was named the High School Counselor of the Year by the South Texas Counseling Association.

Students from 32 NEISD elementary schools gathered at Churchill to participate in the third annual NEISD Elementary Robotics Showcase.

Lindsay Richard's first-grade class at Wilderness Oak was named the winner in the NBC Today show's Most Extraordinary Class contest.

Representatives from the North Central Rotary Club presented a check for $3,137.39 to the students and staff at Harmony Hills to enhance the school's music program.

