CONTRACT

Creative Writing Addendum

As a NESAs Creative Writing major I understand that I must meet the following additional requirements to remain in the North East School of the Arts. Failure to abide by the following rules will result in my removal from the North East School of the Arts and my return, at the beginning of the next semester, to the home school for which I have been zoned. The additional rules and regulations that I must adhere to are as follows:

1. To refrain from engaging in plagiarism of any sort or degree.
2. To meet writing deadlines for class projects and assignments.
3. To participate positively in class and small group critique/support groups, including active participation in the integral class procedure of workshopping.
4. To submit original work to writing competitions and literary magazines, as required by the course and credit to NESAs as school of generation.
5. To make arrangements--when necessary and announced in advance--to stay after school or come in before school to work on class projects or to prepare for performance/readings.
6. To participate in off-campus performance/readings at various schools or other approved activities (some during school time, dependent upon student status in classes missed because of performance).
7. To support all major NESAs productions in a variety of ways: ushering, public relations work, box office, volunteer stage technical work (painting, etc.) or writing, as required.
8. To assume responsibility for independent research and work on any course "Independent Writing Projects" which may be assigned, in addition to other class assignments; to meet deadlines for sharing progress on these independent writing projects with the class on a regular basis.
9. To fulfill NESAs recital attendance requirement as explained in each NESAs class.
10. To help raise funding for magazine production expenses, field trips, etc., even when I am not directly involved in the supported activity.
11. To use NESAs CW resources solely for NESAs CW projects unless specific written permission has been obtained from the Director of NESAs Creative Writing.
